

2014 FIXTURE : ADELAIDE

OUR BREAKDOWN

The biggest news for the 2014 is the introduction of a 10th team, the Adelaide Crows "State League" side.

Only one of the Crows games is a nominal home match, but it's a two hour drive from West Lakes, in Clare when they host the Port Magpies on May 4th.

Marquee Match— This is the BIG question for the SANFL in 2014, will a Crows "state league" side bring in the crowds or will AFC fans stick to following their AFL side leaving their SANFL games to being attended by just one set of supporters?

We will soon find out with their first game in Rd 1 against North, and a night game on AN-ZAC Day against the Bays in Rd 4.

They also play night games at West (May 10, July 4) & Norwood (May 16).

Probably the biggest game will be on Sat July 26th when the Crows travel to Alberton for the first time to take on their AFL rivals at SANFL level at Port's home ground.

Other— The first ever game for a team in a Crows jumper was a trial of "possibles" against the Eagles (their 1st game as well) as a curtain raiser to the main group "probables" playing Essendon.

Now 23 years later the Crows SANFL sides very first game will also be a trial against the Eagles.

2014 FIXTURE : CENTRAL

OUR BREAKDOWN

Saturday is the day for Bulldog fans with all 9 scheduled home match slated for a Saturday afternoon time slot. One of those has a 12.10pm start against Norwood in Round 2 for TV purposes. Also on the Redlegs, Central will play a Friday Night match at the Parade for the first time in many years.

The Dogs will be hoping for a fast start with 3 of their first four games at the Ponderossa.

However of their first 6 games, 4 are against the other teams that played finals last year, another against the Crows.

There are no home night games scheduled, Central only playing 2 games under lights all season and only once on a Sunday.

Marquee Match— Hosting Norwood & Adelaide on consecutive Saturdays in Rd 2 & 3 will hopefully bring the crowds in.

Other— 13 of their 16 scheduled matches are on a Saturday Afternoon.

OUR BREAKDOWN

Based on last years form, the Eagles have a chance to start strong playing last years bottom 5 sides in the first 6 rounds before getting last years Grand Finalists, North & Norwood, back to back in Rds 7-8.

Marquee Match— The Eagles will trial an Easter Monday blockbuster game against near neighbours the Port Magpies. They also host the Crows for the first time in June and Norwood in mid July.

Other— Eagles play 3 of their final 4 games at home. Of their 9 scheduled home games 6 are on a Saturday afternoon but of their 7 scheduled away games, 4 are on a Sunday plus 2 on a Friday night. This will mean a lot of 6 day or 8 day breaks during the season,

2014 FIXTURE : GLENELG

OUR BREAKDOWN

As the wooden spooner every schedule looks hard, but based on last years form the Tigers get the best possible start, facing the other 3 non finalists Sturt, Port & South to open the season. Their first three home games are all on a Friday Night.

Marquee Match— Take your pick, the Tigers have a great schedule from a promotional viewpoint with home Friday night games to open the season (Sturt), on ANZAC Day (Adelaide) & one week later Norwood. The traditional Queens Birthday Monday game against North also draws a good crowd.

Other— Only 4 of the Tigers 5 allowable night games have been scheduled so their Rd 18 finale against the Magpies could also be a night game.

Once again Glenelg will play in a Good Friday game against the Panthers at Noarlunga.

2014 FIXTURE : NORTH

OUR BREAKDOWN

North will face some early tests with games against other top 3 sides West & Norwood ,both on the road, in the opening four weeks. The Roosters home games are bookmarked with 2 to open the season and then 4 of their last 5 at Prospect. Their 8 scheduled home games are evenly split between Saturday and Sunday with 4 each.

Marquee Match— All eyes will be on Prospect in Round 1 when the Crows come to play to see what turnout will be. Traditional high drawers Port (May 24) & Norwood (Aug 3) are scheduled for later in the season.

Other— New coach Ken McGregor gets a crack at his previous club, Port in Rd 8 (Sat May 24) before travelling back to Alberton in Rd 13. (Sat July 12).

Between June 23 & July 25 the Roosters have 2 byes and 2 away games (South & Port).

The Roosters ANZAC DAY clash against Norwood is at a venue to be determined although it is a Redlegs home game.

After Rd 13 (July 12), North only have to travel once for the rest of the minor round (Rd 16 v Sturt).
